DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jong et al., U.S. Patent 6,348,381.

Jong et al. shows the invention substantially as claimed including a method for forming an oxide-nitride-oxide layer 208 comprising a bottom oxide layer 202, a top oxide layer 206, and a nitride layer 204 intermediate said bottom and top oxide layers, wherein the top oxide layer has a thickness in the range of 75 to 115 angstroms, the bottom oxide layer has a thickness in the range of 50 to 75 angstroms, and the nitride layer has a thickness in the range of 35 to 75 angstroms. Furthermore, note that the reference discloses that the top oxide is thicker than the bottom oxide and the nitride layer (see Figs. 2-7 and col. 2-line 64 to col. 4-line 32).

Jong et al. does not expressly disclose the exact ranges of thicknesses both in absolute terms and in relative terms with respect to other layers. However, a prima facie case of obviousness exists because overlapping ranges have been shown with respect to, for instance, the amount at which the top oxide layer is thicker than the bottom oxide and the nitride layer and therefore a prima facie case of obviousness exists. Note that because of these disclosed thicknesses, inherently the managing movement step of claim 1, decreasing capacitance step of claim 10, increasing and decreasing threshold voltage steps of claims 11-12, narrowing step of claim 13, improving matching step of claim 14, enabling reduction step of claim 15, and controlling operating voltage step of claim 16 are all inherent with respect to the Jong et al. reference since a prima facie case of obviousness has been made with respect to the relative and absolute thicknesses of the ONO layers.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 9-2-03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Jong et al. fails to teach the steps of "managing charge movement" as in claim 1, "decreasing capacitance" as in claim 10, "increasing and decreasing threshold voltage" as in claims 11-12, "narrowing step" of claim 13, "improving matching step" of claim 14, "enabling reduction" of claim 15, and "controlling operating voltage" of claim 16. However, Jong et al. does provide a prima facie case of obviousness for the claimed thicknesses which inherently will produce the above mentioned steps. Therefore, a prima facie case of obviousness has been established.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
